Wake Up to Good Morning, Los Alamitos!

Los Alamitos, California – Back by popular demand, the Good Morning, Los Alamitos! program invites all City residents, businesses, and members of the community to attend this informative event. As shown on the graphic below, the event will be held on Wednesday, October 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. at the City of Los Alamitos Community Center located at 10911 Oak Street. Attendees can expect to meet City Staff, including City Manager, Chet Simmons and Members of the City Council along with other key City Personnel across the various City departments. The purpose of the program is to bring awareness through an informal, educational experience ranging from City services and upcoming projects to networking discussion.

The event is free and registration is not required but requested. The event includes complimentary light breakfast. Don't miss out on this wonderful opportunity! To register, please visit the website: <https://goodmorninglosalamitos.eventbrite.com>. For questions, please contact Development Services Department, Elisha Boothe at (562) 431-3538 ext. 203 or visit the City website at www.cityoflosalamitos.org
